How Is It Possible to Offer Challenge Island STEAM Adventures to Kids at Home?

The Answer Is as Much About What We Are as What We Are Not.

We Use Everyday Household Items in Our Projects so Families Have Everything they Need On Hand. Our Collaborative Online Format Allows Kids to Interact and Collaborate Throughout.

"There are a number of STEM and STEAM enrichment companies, but one thing that makes Challenge Island stand out from the competition is what it lacks. You'll find no screens or digital devices in a Challenge Island field trips, after-school class, camp or family night. Instead, kids, working in tribes, are encouraged to use imagination, teamwork and problem-solving skills to come up with creative solutions to challenges using only a treasure chest full of low-tech art supplies." - Entrepreneur Magazine, March 2020

Parent Feedback About Home Island

- "Ellie had so much fun today taking part in Challenge Island's virtual Home Island. Over 100 children took part in the Zoom call and set about learning about the Taj Mahal in Agra, India. They proceeded to problem solve and engineer using bits of stuff most of us have at home. The lessons are affordable and new classes are being added daily to meet the demand!" - Home Island Parent, Houston, TX
- "I highly recommend Challenge Island Virtual STEAM class. It was reasonably priced, educational, gave kids a break from all the worksheets and bookwork, plus they could interact with other kids." - Home Island Parent, Kent Island, Maryland
- "My son had a blast creating on Home Island. It was a fun break in the day and he absolutely will be taking part in as many more as there are!" - Home Island Parent, West Palm Beach, FL
- "My kids loved the Home Island lesson! My son said it was better than watching a movie. They loved being highlighted when they showed their creations. Very fun, educational and interactive!" - Home Island Mom, Annapolis, MD
